

OJ Borg

OJ Borg is a broadcaster, filmmaker and owner of an original Amstrad CPC-464. With a colour screen.

Having realised early on that he was no good at proper jobs OJ has worked on numerous TV and Radio shows over the years. From extreme gadget testing for Gizmodo on BBC America to hosting shows for ESL to presenting the Lottery on BBC1, OJ lists his major achievements as having not mortally offended anyone in the eSports world yet, being the bigger than the average cyclist & never having been beaten on Speedball 2.

Currently you can find him presenting weekdays midnight - 3am for Radio 2, hosting the Bespoke Weekly and MMA Show podcasts for the BBC, Bespoke on 5Live & World of eSports for ESL, hyping the biggest eSports stages in the world.

He spends his off time surfing badly, snowboarding worse and trying to teach his dog Lebowski Spanish.
